CLINICAL FOCUS

A significant part of Dr. Şen's practice concerns the newborn period. He carries out newborn follow-up, evaluates and manages newborn jaundice, and provides guidance on newborn screening tests. He also assesses infants with colic and supports families through the early months of life.

For older children and adolescents, Dr. Şen provides well-child follow-up, including monitoring of growth and development and evaluation of growth and developmental disorders. He oversees childhood nutrition monitoring and diagnoses and treats common childhood infectious diseases, including upper respiratory tract illnesses.
