CLINICAL FOCUS

The core of Dr. Ekim's work is anesthesiology: planning and administering anesthesia for patients undergoing surgical and other procedures, and monitoring them while the procedure takes place. This includes reviewing a patient's medical history, current medications and any previous experience with anesthesia, so that the approach can be adapted to the individual and to the...

His practice also covers reanimation and perioperative care. Perioperative care refers to the support a patient receives around the time of an operation, from the assessment before surgery through to the recovery period afterward.
