CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Aydın's first listed area of expertise is skin diseases. This is a broad field, and the conditions that fall under it range from short-lived complaints to long-term, relapsing disorders. Her approach to a new patient generally starts with a detailed history, including how long the problem has been present, how it has changed, and which treatments have already been tried, followed by a clinical examination of the affected...

Her second listed area is venereal diseases, meaning infections that are transmitted through sexual contact and that may present with skin or mucosal findings. Dr. Aydın assesses these presentations within the same dermatology setting, with attention to confidentiality. The consultation typically covers the history of symptoms, an examination, and a discussion of what the findings may indicate and which options are available.
