CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Karakaya's work is anesthesia planning for patients before, during, and after procedures. This typically involves reviewing the patient's medical history, current medications, and previous experiences with anesthesia, and discussing the anesthetic approach that appears suitable for the individual and the planned intervention.

Dr. Karakaya's clinical interests also include intensive care treatment and advanced life support. In this setting, an anesthesiologist and reanimation specialist is involved in the monitoring and support of patients whose condition requires close observation and organ support, and in the management of acute, life-threatening situations.
