CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Güner's work involves the prostate. He evaluates and treats prostate diseases, and prostate cancer is among the conditions he manages. Cancers of the urinary tract are also within his scope, including bladder cancer. Related to this, he assesses hematuria (blood in the urine), a symptom that calls for careful investigation of the urinary tract.

The second pillar of his practice is andrology and male reproductive health. This includes the evaluation of male infertility, the diagnosis and treatment of sexually transmitted diseases, and circumcision. In each of these areas the appropriate approach depends on the individual patient's findings, and Dr. Güner discusses the available options with the patient after an assessment.
