CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Keçecioğlu's work centers on general pediatrics and child and adolescent health. This includes the assessment and follow-up of infants, children and adolescents, the evaluation of common childhood illnesses, and the monitoring of growth and development over time.

A significant part of her background lies in neonatal intensive care and newborn care. Having spent close to two decades in a neonatal intensive care unit, she is experienced in the care of newborns who require close observation and support in the first days and weeks of life, as well as in the routine assessment of healthy newborns.
