CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Aslan's areas of expertise are Interventional Radiology, Interventional Neuroradiology and Transarterial Radioembolization (TARE). Interventional radiology uses imaging guidance to perform minimally invasive procedures through small access points rather than open surgery.

In practice, Dr. Aslan's assessment of a patient is focused on the imaging findings and on whether an interventional radiology approach is suitable in the individual case. Not every patient referred for an image-guided procedure is a candidate for one; the decision depends on the diagnosis, the findings on existing imaging, previous treatments and the patient's overall condition.
