CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Kayakıran's work in the Emergency Service centres on the assessment and initial management of patients who present with urgent or acute health problems. A significant part of this work involves trauma, where the priority is a structured evaluation of the injured patient, identification of injuries that need immediate attention and coordination of further care where...

Within this area, his interests include bee stings and tick bites, which can range from limited local reactions to situations that require closer observation, and drowning, where the initial evaluation focuses on breathing and oxygenation.
