Gynecology & ObstetricsCLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Albayrak's practice is the evaluation and management of infertility. This includes assessment of reduced ovarian reserve, in which AMH (anti-Müllerian hormone) testing is used alongside the patient's history and other findings to help understand ovarian function and to inform the discussion of reproductive options.

Dr. Albayrak additionally sees patients with polycystic ovary syndrome, a condition that can affect ovulation and fertility, and patients requiring endometriosis treatment, particularly where the condition is associated with difficulty conceiving.
