CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Yiğitaslan's clinical work is in neurology, the specialty concerned with disorders of the brain, spinal cord, peripheral nerves and muscles. His training and subsequent posts have been based in neurology clinics at a university faculty of medicine, a training and research hospital, a university clinic where he also held an academic appointment, and two state hospitals.

Neurological assessment typically depends on a detailed history, a structured clinical examination and, where relevant, a review of imaging and other investigations that have already been performed. The specific conditions Dr. Yiğitaslan is able to evaluate in an individual case, and whether further tests or referral to another specialty are advisable, are matters he discusses with each patient after reviewing that patient's...
