CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Baransu's practice involves inflammatory skin diseases. He assesses and treats acne, psoriasis, eczema and dermatitis, and urticaria. These conditions often follow a chronic or relapsing course, and treatment planning is based on the type and extent of the skin involvement, previous treatments and the patient's...

He also manages skin infections, with particular attention to fungal infections such as athlete's foot, nail fungal infections and Candida infections, as well as genital warts. Another area of his work is the monitoring and mapping of moles, in which existing moles are documented and followed over time so that changes can be identified,...
