CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. İnal's principal area of interest is thyroid disease and its medical treatment. Alongside this, a large part of his practice involves the diagnosis and treatment of metabolic disease and the long-term management of chronic conditions.

His areas of expertise also include anaemia, upper respiratory tract diseases and geriatric health, reflecting the broad scope of general internal medicine. In practice, this means that Dr. İnal assesses symptoms in the context of the patient's overall health, reviews existing medication and previous treatments, and discusses medical treatment options and monitoring plans...
