CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Türkcanoğlu's clinical work centers on emergency evaluation, urgent medical care and emergency management. Emergency evaluation involves the initial assessment of a patient who arrives with acute symptoms: taking a focused history, performing a clinical examination and deciding which investigations may be needed to clarify the situation.

Urgent medical care covers the treatment of conditions that need prompt attention but can be addressed within the Emergency Service. Emergency management refers to the broader coordination of a patient's care during an acute episode, including stabilisation where necessary, communication with other hospital departments and planning of appropriate next steps, which may include discharge with advice, referral to a specialist or...
