CLINICAL FOCUS

Intensive care treatment forms a central part of Dr. Hosseini's work. Patients admitted to intensive care may need close monitoring of vital functions, support for breathing and circulation, and coordinated management of complex medical problems. In this setting the anesthesiologist works alongside surgeons and other specialists, adjusting treatment as the patient's condition changes.

Palliative care is a further area of interest. Its aim is to relieve symptoms such as pain, breathlessness, and distress in patients with serious illness, and to support comfort and quality of life rather than to cure the underlying disease. Dr.
