CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Yaver's clinical work is centered on general pediatrics. He evaluates and manages common childhood illnesses and provides infant care, including the routine assessment of newborns and young children. His practice also extends to adolescent health, addressing the medical needs of older children as they move toward adulthood.

Pediatric follow-up care is an important part of Dr. Yaver's approach. Children who have been assessed or treated may need to be seen again over time so that their condition, growth and response to any treatment can be reviewed. Where a child's presentation suggests a problem outside general pediatrics, Dr. Yaver can discuss with the family whether referral to another specialty is appropriate.
