CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Erdim evaluates and treats patients with acute myocardial infarction and unstable angina pectoris, as well as those with ventricular fibrillation and sick sinus syndrome. Diagnostic work includes coronary angiography, which is used to visualize the coronary arteries and to guide decisions about further treatment.

For more complex coronary lesions, he performs rotational atherectomy, steerable coronary atherectomy, coronary thrombectomy and laser coronary angioplasty; these are assistive techniques used in stent revascularization, and he has co-authored a review on their indications.
