CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Demir's practice concerns trauma and emergency interventions. Patients arriving after an injury are evaluated for the extent and urgency of their condition, and the emergency team works to identify problems that require immediate attention.

Dr. Demir also has a particular interest in environmental emergencies. These include drowning, acute hypoxia, and airway obstruction, situations in which the supply of oxygen to the body is compromised and the time to assessment can be decisive. He additionally sees patients with bee stings, which range from local reactions to more serious systemic responses that need urgent evaluation.
