CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Temel's work is centered on cardiology, the assessment and management of conditions affecting the heart and circulation. In practice this involves taking a detailed history, reviewing symptoms and risk factors, examining the patient and interpreting existing test results before discussing which further investigations or treatments may be appropriate.

A particular area of his practice is cardiopulmonary rehabilitation. This is a structured, supervised approach that combines medical follow-up with planned activity and education for patients with heart or lung conditions.
