CLINICAL FOCUS

The areas of expertise listed for Sabit Kılıç are physical medicine and rehabilitation, spine health, rehabilitation, physical function improvement and movement recovery. In practice this means working with patients who need to regain strength, mobility, balance or coordination, whether the underlying cause is a spine-related problem or another condition that affects the way they move.

Spine health is a listed subspecialty. Rehabilitation for the spine often concentrates on posture, the mobility of the back and neck, and the strength and control of the muscles that support the spine, with the aim of easing functional limitations and helping patients return to everyday activities.
