CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Ersoy's clinical work includes healthy child follow-up and childhood vaccinations, with age-appropriate assessment of growth and development at each visit. She follows newborns, including the evaluation and monitoring of newborn jaundice, and supports families dealing with infant colic.

In the area of infectious disease, Dr. Ersoy diagnoses and treats pediatric infectious diseases, including upper respiratory tract infections in children. Her approach involves taking a careful history from the family, examining the child, and arranging further tests where clinically indicated.
