CLINICAL FOCUS

Seda Özkan's professional focus is embryology and assisted reproductive technology. As an embryologist she is responsible for the laboratory stages of IVF, supporting couples through the technical steps of each treatment cycle while the treating physicians manage the clinical side of care. Her areas of expertise, as listed in her professional profile, are:

Because embryology is a laboratory discipline, her contribution to a couple's care takes place in close collaboration with the reproductive medicine physicians who plan, prescribe and oversee treatment. Whether a particular laboratory technique is appropriate for an individual couple is decided by the treating physician after evaluation. Some IVF programs also include embryo genetic screening;
