CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Görmez evaluates and manages patients with coronary artery disease, including diagnostic angiography and percutaneous coronary intervention. His interventional work also covers chronic total occlusion, in which a coronary artery is completely blocked and may be reopened through a catheter-based procedure when appropriate.

A further part of his practice concerns heart failure, heart valve diseases including mitral valve regurgitation, and heart rhythm disorders. He assesses arrhythmias and atrial fibrillation and provides care for patients who have or may need a pacemaker.
