CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Akal's listed areas of expertise are gynecologic diseases and pregnancy care. In gynecology, her work involves the assessment of women who present with symptoms or with findings from earlier examinations, a review of any previous investigations and treatments, and a discussion of the management options that may be appropriate for the individual patient.

In obstetrics, her practice covers the care of women during pregnancy. This includes the follow-up of the pregnant patient, the interpretation of existing reports and imaging that the patient brings with her, and a discussion of how care can be organized going forward.
