CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Aydoğdu's clinical focus is pediatric gastroenterology, the area of medicine concerned with the digestive system in childhood. She sees children presenting with a range of digestive health concerns. Her approach to assessment involves taking a careful history from the family, examining the child and reviewing any existing test results, so that the findings can be discussed with the parents together with the options that...

Because digestive symptoms in children can have many possible explanations, the evaluation is adapted to the age of the child, the nature and duration of the symptoms and any previous findings. Investigations and reports from other centers are taken into account as part of the assessment, and the family is involved in decisions about any further steps.
