CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Uğur's clinical work centers on the care of critically ill adults. Intensive care treatment involves the continuous monitoring and support of patients whose vital organ functions are compromised, for example after major surgery, severe infection or acute illness. Much of her experience in this area was gained in the Adult Intensive Care Unit of Koç University Hospital.

Palliative care is a further area of interest. In the intensive care setting this focuses on relieving distressing symptoms and on supporting patients and their families when a serious illness is advanced. Treatment decisions in each of these areas are made on an individual basis and in coordination with the other specialists involved in the patient's care.
