CLINICAL FOCUS

As a specialist in anesthesiology and reanimation, Dr. Olguner is involved in the care of patients who need close monitoring and support of vital functions. Intensive care treatment is a central part of her work.

Pain management is another of her listed areas of expertise. Anesthesiologists are frequently involved in assessing and treating pain, both in the period after surgery and in longer-lasting conditions; general information on the approaches used in this field is available on the interventional pain management page.
