CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Yıldırım's clinical work covers perioperative anesthesia care, which includes the assessment of patients before a procedure, the administration and monitoring of anesthesia during the procedure, and follow-up in the recovery period. She places emphasis on individualized anesthesia planning, in which the choice of anesthetic approach takes into account the patient's medical history, current medications, existing conditions...

Her areas of expertise also include critical care support and reanimation for patients who require close monitoring or organ support, as well as pain management in the perioperative setting and beyond. The aim of this work is to support safe anesthesia, to reduce discomfort around procedures and to identify and address risks at an early stage.
