CLINICAL FOCUS

A significant part of Dr. Tekçe's practice involves trauma care. In the emergency setting, this begins with a structured assessment of the injured patient, identification of injuries that may threaten life or limb, and initial stabilization. Depending on the findings, patients may be treated on site, kept under observation, or referred for further specialist care.

Dr. Tekçe's expertise extends to environmental emergencies, a group of conditions linked to a person's surroundings and activities. This includes drowning and near-drowning incidents, in which the priority is restoring adequate oxygenation and monitoring for delayed complications.
