CLINICAL FOCUS

A significant part of Dr. Karaarslan's work concerns teeth grinding (bruxism). Depending on the individual findings, treatment may involve a custom night guard to protect the teeth during sleep or Botox applications aimed at reducing the activity of the chewing muscles.

In aesthetic dentistry, Dr. Karaarslan works with porcelain restorations, laminate veneers, zirconia restorations and composite bonding. The choice between these options depends on the condition of the existing tooth structure, the extent of damage or discoloration and the patient's expectations, and it is discussed with the patient after a clinical examination.
