CLINICAL FOCUS

As an inpatient clinic physician, Dr. Eren is involved in the day-to-day medical care of patients admitted to the hospital. This includes taking a clinical history, performing examinations, following the patient's condition during the stay, reviewing test results, and coordinating with other specialists when a patient's needs extend beyond general medical care.

Her earlier career in primary care and family health informs this work. Over many years in health centers and a family health center, she managed common acute and chronic complaints across all age groups. Her time at mother and child health centers gave her experience in maternal health and child health, including routine follow-up and preventive care.
