CLINICAL FOCUS

The core of Dr. Uzuner's practice is orthodontics, the branch of dentistry concerned with the position of the teeth and the relationship between the jaws. Orthodontic assessment generally looks at how the teeth meet, the spacing or crowding of the dental arches and the alignment of the bite, and the choice of approach depends on the individual findings in each patient.

Within this field, Dr. Uzuner's listed areas of expertise include two specific approaches. Lingual orthodontics uses fixed appliances placed on the inner, tongue-facing surfaces of the teeth rather than on the visible outer surfaces. Aligner orthodontics uses a series of removable, transparent trays that are changed at intervals to guide tooth movement.
