CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Gasemi's clinical work lies in diagnostic imaging rather than in treatment itself; her role is to select and interpret the examination that is appropriate for a given clinical question and to report the findings to the referring physician. Within abdominal radiology, she uses abdominal and thoracic ultrasound, CT and X-ray imaging to assess the organs of the abdomen and chest.

Ultrasound imaging, including Doppler ultrasound for the assessment of blood flow in vessels, forms a substantial part of her daily work. Dr. Gasemi reviews each request in the context of the patient's history and any earlier imaging, so that an examination is chosen only when it is likely to add useful information.
