CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Dileklen's work is the assessment and medical treatment of thyroid disorders. Patients with abnormal thyroid function or other thyroid-related concerns are evaluated within the context of their overall health, and thyroid disease treatment is planned according to the individual findings.

His practice further includes the medical management of obesity, the investigation of anaemia and oedema, and general chronic disease management, in which several conditions are often followed over time in a coordinated way. Geriatric health is an additional area of his work, with attention to the particular medical needs of older patients. Across these areas, Dr.
