CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Özdek's practice involves the first weeks and months of life. He provides newborn follow-up, in which feeding, weight gain and general development are reviewed, and he evaluates newborn jaundice, deciding whether bilirubin levels need monitoring or treatment.

For older infants and children, Dr. Özdek offers well-child follow-up, with periodic checks of growth, development and general health. He assesses childhood growth disorders and pediatric nutrition disorders, reviewing growth patterns, dietary history and any relevant test results before discussing further steps with the family.
