CLINICAL FOCUS

A substantial part of Dr. Tekin's practice involves lower respiratory tract infections. She evaluates and manages patients with bronchitis and pneumonia, assessing symptoms, medical history and any existing test results in order to identify the likely cause of the infection and to discuss appropriate treatment options.

Dr. Tekin additionally manages sexually transmitted infections, including syphilis and HPV, offering assessment, testing where indicated and a discussion of treatment and follow-up. Her clinical interests further include shingles, for which she evaluates the presentation and discusses the available management options with the patient.
