CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Göksel's diagnostic work is focused on gastrointestinal pathology. A large part of this involves the microscopic evaluation of biopsy and surgical specimens from the digestive tract in patients with inflammatory bowel disease, including Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis.

She also has expertise in the pathology of neuroendocrine tumors. In this area, tissue examination contributes to establishing the diagnosis and characterizing the tumor, which forms part of the information the clinical team uses when discussing treatment options with the patient. As a pathologist, Dr.
