CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Kabadere's clinical interests include refractive errors such as myopia, hyperopia, and astigmatism, as well as cataract and glaucoma. He also evaluates and manages patients with retinal diseases, uveitis, and strabismus. In these conditions, the assessment usually begins with a detailed eye examination, and the approach to treatment depends on the diagnosis, the stage of the condition, and the findings at examination.

Pediatric eye diseases form another part of his practice, including amblyopia and nystagmus in children. He additionally sees patients with eye allergy, color blindness, eyelid twitching (myokymia), and ocular migraine. Because several of these conditions can present with overlapping symptoms, Dr.
