CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Çeviker's practice is dedicated to metabolic and endocrine conditions. He evaluates and treats patients with diabetes and prediabetes, and he manages the complications that can accompany long-standing diabetes, including diabetic foot conditions and Charcot foot.

His areas of expertise further include anemia, edema and the broader field of chronic disease management, in which several long-term conditions are monitored and treated together. Dr. Çeviker has a particular interest in geriatric health, meaning the medical care of older adults who often live with multiple conditions and medications. In addition, he evaluates patients presenting with symptoms of poisoning.
