CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Gafuroğlu's areas of clinical interest cover a broad range of conditions treated in physical medicine and rehabilitation. Spinal disorders form a significant part of her practice, including chronic low back pain and neck pain and cervical radiculopathy, in which nerve root irritation may cause pain, numbness or weakness radiating into the arm.

Her practice also includes post-stroke rehabilitation, which aims to support recovery of movement, balance and independence following a stroke, as well as the evaluation and treatment of fibromyalgia syndrome and osteoporosis assessment.
