CLINICAL FOCUS

Trauma is a central part of Dr. Alkoç's work. In the emergency setting this involves a structured initial assessment of the injured patient, identification of injuries that may need urgent attention and coordination of further care where required.

Dr. Alkoç also has a particular interest in insect bites and stings, including bee stings and tick bites. These exposures can range from mild local reactions to more significant systemic responses, and emergency assessment focuses on recognizing which patients require observation or treatment. Tick bites may additionally raise questions about follow-up, which are discussed on an individual basis. Across these areas, Dr.
