CLINICAL FOCUS

Thyroid disease is a central part of Dr. Filiz's practice. He evaluates patients with suspected or established thyroid disorders, interprets laboratory and imaging findings and plans medical treatment and follow-up; general information on thyroid disease treatment is available on this site.

A further area of his work is chronic disease management, in which patients with one or more long-term conditions are followed over time and treatment is adjusted as needed. Geriatric health is also listed among his areas of expertise; this involves the assessment of older adults, attention to several coexisting conditions and the review of ongoing medication.
