CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Bayır's clinical work centers on anesthesiology and reanimation. Within this field, his areas of expertise are advanced life support, intensive care treatment, and palliative care. Advanced life support refers to the structured management of patients with life-threatening conditions, including the support of breathing and circulation...

Palliative care focuses on the relief of symptoms and the support of comfort in patients with serious illness. In each of these areas, the approach is guided by the patient's clinical condition, existing test results, and previous treatments, and decisions are made in consultation with the patient, their relatives, and the wider treating...
