CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Çakır evaluates and manages patients with kidney-related conditions across the course of kidney disease. Her work includes the diagnosis and treatment of glomerulonephritis and diabetic nephropathy, where treatment planning is directed at monitoring kidney function and addressing the underlying condition.

A substantial part of her practice concerns kidney transplantation. As a nephrologist, she takes part in the medical assessment of transplant candidates and in the follow-up of transplant recipients, including immunosuppressive management and the monitoring of complications.
