CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Ertugrul's work covers the field of anesthesiology and reanimation. In anesthesia care, this involves assessing patients ahead of a planned procedure, reviewing their medical history and existing conditions, and planning and delivering anesthesia during surgery and other interventions.

His second area of practice is intensive care. This involves the care of patients who require close monitoring and support of vital functions, for example after major surgery or during a serious illness. Intensive care is delivered as part of a team, and Dr. Ertugrul's role within the Anesthesiology & Reanimation unit is to contribute to the continuous assessment, treatment planning, and stabilization of these patients.
