CLINICAL FOCUS

A significant part of Dr. Yurtman's practice is devoted to vascular conditions. He assesses and treats peripheral vascular occlusions, in which narrowing or blockage of arteries outside the heart reduces blood flow to the limbs or other organs. He also treats varicose veins and provides wound care, which is often relevant for patients whose wounds heal slowly because of underlying circulatory problems.

In cardiac surgery, Dr. Yurtman's areas of expertise include heart valve diseases, among them aortic valve stenosis, in which the aortic valve narrows and restricts blood flow from the heart. He also has clinical experience with heart muscle diseases.
