CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Kılıç's practice centers on spine health. He evaluates and treats patients with scoliosis, a sideways curvature of the spine, and lumbar hypolordosis, in which the normal inward curve of the lower back is reduced. Both conditions can affect posture and may be associated with back pain;

He also sees patients with lumbar disc herniation and cervical disc herniation, in which disc material in the lower back or neck presses on nearby nerve structures. Symptoms can include pain, numbness or weakness in the arms or legs, depending on the level involved. Dr.
