CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Sütoluk's clinical work centres on the assessment and initial management of patients presenting to the Emergency Service. His areas of expertise include trauma, where prompt evaluation of injuries and the patient's overall condition guides the next steps in care.

In addition, his expertise covers common envenomation and bite presentations, in particular bee stings and tick bites. These presentations range from mild local reactions to more significant systemic responses, and emergency evaluation focuses on identifying the severity of the reaction and determining the appropriate course of management.
