CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Kuzu's clinical work is centered on general pediatrics and the broad field of child health and diseases. A central part of her practice is pediatric evaluation: taking a detailed history from the child and the family, performing a clinical examination and reviewing any previous findings in order to reach an assessment and, where appropriate, plan further investigation or treatment.

She also provides pediatric follow-up care, in which a child's condition, development and response to any treatment are reviewed over time. Follow-up visits allow earlier findings to be reassessed, ongoing concerns to be discussed with the family and the care plan to be adjusted as the child's needs change. The scope and frequency of follow-up are decided individually, based on the clinical picture.
